Practitioner’s Training

Edith Ann Newall received her Master’s Degree in Acupuncture and Chinese Medicine from the Colorado School of Traditional Chinese Medicine (CSTCM). She is a Diplomat in Acupuncture and a licensed practitioner in the state of Colorado. Training at CSTCM encompassed prescription and application of Acupuncture techniques, Adjunctive Therapies and Herbal Medications as defined by Traditional Chinese Medicine concepts. In an effort to further her education, build a deeper knowledge base, understanding within the skills and techniques surrounding Acupuncture as a healing practice, Edith studied at the Chengdu University in China. Additionally she has also trained in massage therapy, energy work such as Reiki healing and Chakra alignment therapies.

Treatment Sessions

Treatments sessions may include, but are not limited to; body work, life style counseling, acupuncture, cupping (suction), tui na and manipulation of the fascia (body work), gua sha, e-stim (electro acupuncture), moxabustion/needle moxa (heat), chakra alignment and reiki healing.

Due to the rules and regulations as per Colorado department of health, clean needles are always used as part of the clean needle technique.
